Member spotlight: Malvine Giesbrecht

Senior Interior Designer, Owner
Synergy Interior Design Inc.

“ BOMA is a place where we can get to ‘do lunch’. We get to know each other and understand our values and work ethics. That foundation has led me to many interesting projects for my firm as well as many enduring and much appreciated working relationships. I feel very fortunate to be a BOMA member for 13 years and counting. ”

For over 15 years Malvine Giesbrecht has been the Senior Interior Designer and Owner of Synergy Interior Design Inc.

“We balance the synergies of client/tenant needs and aspirations with unique design elements, technical possibilities, and financial considerations to create the right interior at the right price,” Malvine says, “I bridge, coordinate and manage suppliers on their behalf. Every project is unique. We shape space.

As an interior designer, Malvine wanted to be in an environment where her skill sets and abilities could be put to work to create beautiful, functional and cost-efficient solutions for customers’ real-estate properties.

Membership with BOMA allowed her just that, and she has been able to get to know leaders and decision-makers in the industry. “Knowing and trusting service professionals in so many industries is a huge strategic advantage to me in my interior design business and in my commercial property management portfolio.”
